Foreword

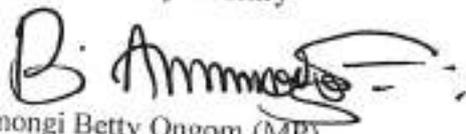

The Government of Uganda received financing from the International Development Association of the World Bank towards the implementation of the Generating Growth Opportunities and Productivity for Women Enterprises (GROW) Project. The Project Development Objective is to increase access to entrepreneurial services that enable female entrepreneurs to grow their enterprises. GROW Project is a nationwide project that is implemented in 135 districts, 11 cities including Kampala Capital City Authority (KCCA) and 44 Municipalities and is therefore implemented under the Local Governments (as amended) Act, 2015.

The GROW project is designed to support women entrepreneurs, enhance their productivity and ensure they have access to the resources necessary for their businesses to thrive. The key objectives of the GROW project are facilitating access to financial resources, training, and mentorship programs that enhance women's entrepreneurial skills and business acumen; supporting women-led enterprises to drive local economic development and create employment opportunities; improving the livelihoods of women and their families by promoting sustainable income generating activities; and building capacity of local communities to support women's economic initiatives and foster a culture of inclusivity and equality.

To enhance coordination and accessibility, the Ministry, in collaboration with the Office of the Prime Minister (Department of Refugees) and the Ministry of Local Government, has designated focal point officers at the 13 refugee settlements and within the Local Governments. To support these officers in fulfilling their roles, the Ministry has developed operational guidelines to streamline the delivery of GROW services and products to women entrepreneurs. These guidelines establish a detailed framework to promote the efficient and transparent use of funds. They define the processes for fund allocation, monitoring, and reporting, ensuring resources are effectively utilized to achieve the desired objectives.

I therefore call upon all stakeholders, from Local Government officials to community leaders, to collaborate and uphold the principles of integrity, transparency, and accountability. Together, let us harness the potential of women entrepreneurs to drive Uganda's economic growth and social development, creating a brighter future for all.

For God and My Country

Amongi Betty Ongom (MP)

Minister of Gender, Labour and Social Development

Preface

I am pleased to disseminate the operational guidelines for the GROW focal point office in the local governments and refugee settlements. These guidelines have been meticulously developed to ensure that the offices of the GROW focal point officers at local governments and refugee settlements are equipped with the necessary financial resources and operational clarity to effectively implement their mandates and contribute to the achievement of the Project Development Objective.

The GROW Project aims to empower local governments and refugee settlements by providing them with the support they need to enhance service delivery, promote transparency, and foster community development. As the backbone of public administration, local governments play a crucial role in addressing the needs of our citizens and driving forward our national development agenda.

These guidelines offer a robust and all-encompassing framework for the allocation, disbursement, and management of operational funds, guaranteeing the efficient and effective use of resources. The guidelines are expected to foster accountability, transparency, and exemplary governance at the local level. By adhering to these guidelines, we can significantly enhance the capacity of local governments and refugee settlements to deliver crucial services, ultimately elevating the quality of life for our communities. Embrace these guidelines, and together, we can create a sustainable and prosperous future for all.

I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to all the stakeholders who have contributed to the development of these guidelines. Your valuable insights and unwavering commitment have been instrumental in shaping a document that is both practical and responsive to the needs of our local governments.

As we embark on this journey, I call upon all Local Governments and Refugee Settlement Officials and other stakeholders to embrace these guidelines and work collaboratively towards their successful implementation of the GROW Project.

For God and My Country

1.1. Background/Introduction

The Ministry of Gender, Labour and Social Development (MGLSD) in partnership with the Private Sector Foundation Uganda (PSFU) is implementing the Generating Growth Opportunities and Productivity for Women Enterprises (GROW) project with funding from the World Bank. The Project arises out of the desire to respond to the needs of women entrepreneurs to grow their businesses, sustain self-employment and create more jobs. The Project Development Objective (PDO) is to increase access to entrepreneurial services that enable female entrepreneurs to grow their enterprises. The project is comprised of four (4) components including i) Support for women empowerment and Enterprise Development services, including in host and refugee communities; ii) Access to finance for women enterprises' growth and transition; iii) Enabling infrastructure and facilities for women enterprise growth and transition; and iv) Program management, policy innovation, and evidence generation. In total, the project is estimated to benefit almost 1.6 million beneficiaries. These include female-owned enterprises, including refugee-owned businesses. GROW will support women entrepreneurs with the growth potential to improve productivity, sustainability and transition their enterprises from micro to small and to medium scale. The project is implemented in Uganda's districts, cities and municipalities, including Refugee Settlements and Refugee Hosting Districts (RHDs). The implementation has been mainstreamed into national and Local Government level structures to avoid duplication, foster sustainability and increase the efficiency of project implementation. These guidelines therefore stipulate the roles of both the MGLSD and the Local Governments to ensure effectiveness in implementation.

These guidelines shall be implemented in conjunction with all project documents, including, but not limited to, component manuals, operational notes, and Environmental and Social Safeguard documents and requirements.

1.2. Justification for the Guidelines

The operationalisation of the local government focal point officers and camp commandants in the refugee settlements is key in ensuring the realisation of the success of the GROW Project. The Guidelines, therefore:

- i. Provide allocation modalities of the funds to Local Governments and Refugee Settlements under the GROW project;
- ii. Enhance the implementation of the GROW Project;
- iii. Outline principles, objectives, roles and practices for operationalising the Focal Point Officers in Local Governments and Camp Commandants in Refugee Settlements.;
- iv. Foster structured supervision, monitoring and evaluation;

- v. Inform stakeholders of the objectives, implementation strategies and structures of the institutional support.
- vi. Appraise focal point officers and camp commandants on their roles and mandate in the implementation of the GROW Project.
- vii. Guide local governments and refugee settlements on planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation, reporting and accountability under the GROW Project.

The guidelines inform Focal Point Officers and Camp Commandants about the coordination, implementation, management, and monitoring and evaluation of interventions for effective implementation of the GROW Project and efficient service delivery to women entrepreneurs. These guidelines shall ensure that the Refugee Settlements, Local Government and the Central Government deliver on their mandate in respect to ensuring that all GROW Project activities, as guided by the Project Operational Manual (POM), are implemented in accordance with the Government of Uganda (GoU) and the International Development Association (IDA) policies and procedures. The Local Government and Refugee Settlements shall be required to operationalise these guidelines to the greatest extent possible.

1.3. The Legal Policy Framework

The implementation of the GROW project is premised on national and international legal policy frameworks as follows:

1.3.1. International Regulatory Frameworks

- i. Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDEW). The Convention contains an important safeguard against statelessness of women as it provides that State parties "shall grant women equal rights with men to acquire, change or retain their nationality" and "shall ensure in particular that neither marriage to an alien nor change of nationality by the husband during marriage shall automatically change the nationality of the wife, render her stateless or force upon her the nationality of the husband." Similarly, there is protection against a major cause of statelessness of children as the Convention also establishes that "State parties shall grant women equal rights with men with respect to the nationality of their children
- ii. Declaration on the Elimination of Violence Against Women (DEVAW), 1993. DEVAW defines "violence against women" as "any act of gender-based violence that results in or is likely to result in physical, sexual or psychological harm or suffering to women, including threats of such acts, coercion or arbitrary deprivation of liberty, whether occurring in public or private life.” DEVAW further defines the term as encompassing, but not limited to, various types of violence occurring in the family, within the general community, and perpetuated and condoned by the State. DEVAW recognizes violence against women is a result of historically unequal power relations between women and men. It also recognizes that “some groups of women, such as women belonging to minority groups, indigenous women, refugee women, migrant women, women living in rural or remote communities, destitute women, women in institutions or in detention, female children, women with disabilities, elderly women and women in situations of armed conflict, are especially vulnerable to violence”. Article 4 of DEVAW requires States to take various measures to eliminate violence against women. These include exercising “due diligence to prevent, investigate, and, in accordance with national legislation, punish acts of violence against women, whether those acts are perpetrated by the State or by private persons”. It also proclaims that “States should condemn violence against women and should not invoke any custom, tradition or religious consideration to avoid their obligations” to eliminate such violence. States should also “adopt all appropriate measures ... to modify the social and cultural patterns of conduct of men and women and to eliminate prejudices, customary practices, and all other practices based on the inferiority or superiority of either of the sexes and on stereotyped roles for men and women”.

- iii. Beijing Platform for Action 1995 – Section 256. A strategy to be developed that eliminates all obstacles to women’s full and equal participation in sustainable development and equal access to and control over resources,
- iv. Sustainable Development Goal 5 aims at achieving gender equality and empowering all women and girls.
- v. International Refugee Law. The 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees and its 1967 Protocol form the foundation of international refugee law and set out the principles upon which the regime of international protection for refugees is built. They provide a general definition of a refugee and establish the main rights and obligations of refugees and the treatment, by the country of asylum, to which they are entitled. These provisions apply to women, girls, boys, and men.

- vi. International Human Rights Law addresses the rights and dignity of all human beings – women, men, boys, and girls at all times and without discrimination. Under international human rights law, States are obliged to respect, protect, and fulfil the human rights of all those within their jurisdiction regardless of age or sex, not just those who are its nationals. Consequently, international human rights principles are important not only for the protection of internally displaced, returnee and stateless women and girls, but also for female asylum-seekers and refugees. The rights of women and girls of concern are protected under general human rights instruments, particularly the 1948 Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR); 1966 International Covenant on Political and Civil Rights (ICCPR); and 1966 International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR). Together with the two protocols to the ICCPR, these instruments form what is known as the International Bill of Rights. The Universal Declaration and the Covenants each state that the rights they set out apply without distinction and prohibit discrimination, including discrimination on grounds of sex or other status. The Covenants also explicitly recognise the equal right of women and men to enjoy all the rights that they contain.

1.3.2. National Strategies and Guidelines.

- i. Vision 2040, aspires for a future in which women are empowered to participate as equal partners in development.
- ii. The NDP III, intends to promote Women's economic empowerment, leadership and participation in decision-making through investment in entrepreneurship programmes, business centers
- iii. The Ministry Strategic Plan 2020/21 – 2024/25 seeks to promote women's participation in governance and development by strengthening National Women's Council structures to promote women's participation in income generation, leadership and decision-making.
- iv. Comprehensive Refugee Response Framework (CRRF) Uganda, 2017, adapts the principles and objectives set out in Annex 1 of the New York Declaration of Refugees and Migrants to the Ugandan context. The CRRF is a multi-stakeholder coordination model on refugee matters focusing on humanitarian and development needs of both refugees and host communities. The CRRF in Uganda encompasses five mutually reinforcing pillars as outlined by the global objectives: (i) Admission and Rights, (ii) Emergency Response and

- Ongoing Needs, (iii) Resilience and Self-reliance, (iv) Expanded Solution and (v) Voluntary Repatriation
- v. National Employment Strategy (NES) aims at boosting job creation and enhancing workforce skills. By aligning public policy with market needs, the NES supports initiatives that empower marginalized groups—including women entrepreneurs—through targeted skills training and job creation programs.
 - vi. Employment Governance Framework (EGF) and Labour Market Information System (LMIS). These frameworks improve the coordination and effectiveness of employment policies, ensuring that data-driven decisions maintain a dynamic and responsive labour market that benefits all participants, including those running small and medium enterprises.
 - vii. Gender Equality Strategy. Though it spans multiple economic sectors, this strategy focuses on ensuring equal access to opportunities irrespective of gender. It underpins policy initiatives that support women entrepreneurs by mandating equitable treatment, access to finance, and business development support.
 - viii. Worker Compensation Guidelines, defines clear procedures for compensation or benefits in the event of workplace injuries, absenteeism due to illness, or other work-related incidents.
 - ix. Child Labour Prevention Guidelines, enforce the prohibition of child labour by outlining specific standards and verification processes to ensure that all employment practices meet international ethical benchmarks.
 - x. Gender Equality and Workplace Inclusion Guidelines provide detailed directives on eliminating gender bias, promoting equal opportunities, and creating inclusive hiring and retention practices. These guidelines are particularly important for projects like GROW, which aims to empower women entrepreneurs by leveling the playing field.
 - xi. Labour Management Plans (LMP), adopted by the GROW Project. The LMP consolidates the relevant labour laws, regulations, and guidelines into a cohesive operational framework. They outline processes for monitoring compliance, managing workplace risks, and fostering continuous improvement in labour practices.

1.3.3. National Regulatory Frameworks

- i. The Constitution of the Republic of Uganda, 1995 as amended; Article 22, 32 (2), 33 (5), 36, 78(1b) guarantees equality between men and women, gender balance, fair representation and promotes women's rights in socio-economic, political and cultural spheres.
- ii. Employment Act, 2006 sets out the basic framework for employment—including contracts, wages, termination, and dispute resolution. It emphasizes principles of fairness, non-discrimination, and equal treatment for all workers. For women entrepreneurs, this means a standardized approach to workplace rights and procedural fairness from day one. The Employment Regulations under the Employment Act provide detailed rules on minimum wages, working hours, overtime, leave entitlements, and termination procedures. They ensure that both employers and employees have clear, enforceable guidelines regarding workplace expectations

- iii. Labour Unions Act, 2006 provides the legal framework for the formation of trade unions and collective bargaining. This law is vital in ensuring that employee voices, especially those from underrepresented groups such as women, are heard and incorporated into workplace policies. Regulations on Trade Unionism and Collective Bargaining under the Labour Unions Act, these regulations guide the establishment and operation of trade unions, ensuring that the unionisation process is transparent and that workers can engage in collective bargaining without facing retribution
- iv. Occupational Safety and Health Act, 2006 mandates that employers ensure safe and healthy working environments. For women-led businesses, adherence to these standards reduces workplace hazards and instills confidence among employees and customers alike. Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) Regulations elaborate on the general requirements stipulated in the Occupational Safety and Health Act by setting detailed standards for workplace conditions, risk assessments, and protective measures. Compliance with these regulations minimizes the risk of occupational injuries.
- v. Labour Disputes Arbitration and Settlement Act, 2006 establishes mechanisms for resolving employment disputes amicably through arbitration, thus fostering industrial peace and stability—a critical component in maintaining business continuity.
- vi. National Social Security Act, 1985 provides systems for social security, which support employees through contributions that eventually translate into retirement, disability, or other benefits. This legal backing helps women entrepreneurs plan for long-term workforce security.
- vii. The 1997 Local Government Act, section 11 mandates local governments to give full effect to the decentralisation of functions, powers, responsibilities and services at all levels of local governments
- viii. The Public Finance Management Act, 2015 as amended Sections 9 and 13 provides for gender and equity-responsive budgeting.

4.1. Allocation Criteria

Variables and weightings for use in the allocation formula	Weighting	Justification
Administrative Units	30	Proxy for the cost of providing services in a larger district
Administrative Cost	10	Effective implementation of Institutional Support to focal point officers
Constant	40	Provides a basic minimum for a Local Government to deliver services
Population (Popn)	20	Estimates the mobilisation need arising out of the population size
Total	100

The allocation of operational funds will be made to local governments that existed before the Cabinet's decision in 2020 to discontinue the creation of new administrative structures. The population projections used to allocate the operational funds are based on the preliminary results of the 2024 National Housing and Population Census.

4.1.1. Disbursement of Institutional Support to Local Governments.

The GROW Project has budgeted an annual total of Shs 3,240,000,000 Billion (Shs. 2.92 Billion to Local Governments and Cities and Shs. 320,000,000 Million to Refugee Settlements) to support the focal point officers'/ settlement commandants in the implementation of the GROW Project in their respective jurisdictions. The Project in consultation with relevant stakeholders has developed these guidelines to operationalise the Institutional Support to Local Governments, Cities and refugee settlements. The key objective of the grant is to support Focal Point officers at Local Governments and settlement commandants in the refugee settlements in a bid to increase the participation of women entrepreneurs in accessing GROW Project products, services, and monitoring and reporting on Environment and Social safeguards of project related activities.

The project has also developed indicative planning figures (attached in Annex 2), a basis upon which the transfer of funds will be made to the beneficiary Districts, Cities, Municipalities and Divisions of Kampala Capital City Authority and refugee settlements. The funds are meant to facilitate activities related to monitoring women's projects, mobilisation of women for increased uptake of GROW Project services and products. The disbursement cycle of the Local Government and refugee settlements Institutional Support funds shall be based on the following predetermined steps;

i. Disbursement of Funds to the Local Governments (Districts, Cities, Municipalities and Kampala Capital City Authority (KCCA) Divisions) and Refugee Settlements.

The Ministry quarterly prepares a release schedule upon which funds will be disbursed to the Districts/Cities/Municipalities/KCCA Divisions/Refugee Settlements. The overall transfer to the Local Governments and refugee settlements is determined by the resources availed to the GROW Project from the Ministry of Finance, Planning and Economic Development. In Refugee Settlements, activity funds will be requested directly from the Project Coordinator via the Refugee Specialist. Funds will be allocated for designated activities upon request, and accountability shall be provided afterwards.

ii. Acknowledgment of Receipt of Funds.

All Accounting Officers for Local Government and refugee settlements will acknowledge receipt of funds in writing to the Permanent Secretary/Accounting Officer, Ministry of Gender, Labour and Social Development.

iii. Utilisation and Purpose of Operational Funds.

All operational funds will be managed strictly by the Offices of the Focal Point Officer and the Settlement Commandant in accordance with the guidelines issued by the GROW Project. To access these funds, Local Governments and Refugee Settlements must adhere to specific requirements outlined in the relevant Programme budgets. The allocated funds are designated to support the Focal Point Officers in coordinating and implementing project activities. These facilitated include:

- a) Safari Day Allowances. These funds are dedicated to covering the daily expenses incurred by Focal Point Officer during field monitoring and engagement activities. This allowance will compensate for a range of on-ground expenditures such as meals, local travel necessities, and incidental costs arising from on-site challenges. Often, Focal Point Officers may work in remote or non-standard environments where access to conventional amenities is limited. The Safari Day Allowances reflect an understanding of these logistical challenges by ensuring that the Officers have the flexibility to address unexpected needs, including additional meal support during extended field trips, emergency shelter in adverse weather conditions, or other unforeseen expenses that arise when operating away from a conventional office setting.
- b) Fuel for Monitoring Activities. This budget will cater for mileage and transportation expenses during project oversight. This budget allocation is specifically reserved for fuel costs associated with the transportation required by Focal Point Officers during project oversight. It covers not only the routine mileage expenses but also accounts for possible variations in fuel costs due to fluctuating market prices and diverse travel distances in challenging terrains. This funding will support the operational mobility of Focal Point Officers, ensuring that they can reliably access remote or dispersed project sites. By earmarking this budget, the project ensures that monitoring activities are not disrupted by transportation constraints, allowing technical officers to maintain scheduled site visits, attend urgent meetings on the field, and respond swiftly to incidents without logistical delays. Moreover, this allocation is formulated with contingencies in mind, allowing for route deviations and additional mileage that might occur due to operational necessities.
- c) Communication Expenses and Office Imprest. Funds will cover office-related expenditures, including communication and minor operational needs. This category of funding is aimed at supporting essential communication channels and everyday operational needs. It covers costs such as mobile data, telephone airtime, and internet connectivity that are vital for real-time coordination between the field and the office. In addition, it includes provisions for routine office expenditures such as printing, stationery, and minor logistical supplies that facilitate smooth day-to-day operations. The concept of office imprest under this category is particularly important as it allows for the availability of immediate funds to cover small, unplanned expenses that could otherwise delay critical communication or administrative tasks. By ensuring a steady flow of communication expenses, the project will maintain seamless connectivity and information sharing, which is instrumental for timely decision-making and effective project oversight. The distribution of the individual budget is detailed in the table below.

Item	Budgetary percentage
Safari Day Allowances	40%
Fuel for monitoring the GROW Project activities	40%
Communication expenses and office imprest	20%
Total	100%

It is important to note that operational funds are exclusively reserved for these purposes and shall not be used to finance stakeholder engagement workshops. Instead, the Project Implementation Teams (MGLSD & PSFU) will organize and facilitate these events.

NB. The Focal Point Officers are expected to continuously collaborate with relevant technical officers to ensure the smooth implementation of project activities. In the absence of a designated Focal Point Officer, a qualified technical officer from the community-based department or from the Settlement Commandant's Office will assume leadership until the appointed Focal Point Officer resumes their duties.*

iv. Submission of Progress Reports/ Accountability.

The local government and refugee settlement accounting officers shall ensure accountabilities are retired in line with the Public Finance Management Act, 2015 (as amended) and Treasury Instructions, 2017. The monthly reports will follow the quarterly report format outlined in Annex 1, specifying the reporting month. Further accounting officers at both local government and refugee settlements shall submit statements of income and expenditure as well as physical progress quarterly reports (within 15 days after the end of the quarter) to the Permanent Secretary/Accounting Officer, MGLSD on all activities implemented detailing the number of meetings conducted, women entrepreneurs accessing GROW Project Products and services.

5.1. Reception, Operation and Maintenance of Motorcycles

To ensure effective implementation of project activities, motorcycles will be provided to the focal point officers. These motorcycles will be their primary mode of transport for effectively monitoring and overseeing project interventions within their respective jurisdictions. The focal point officers are responsible for monitoring all project-related activities and fulfilling their roles as outlined in their Terms of Reference (ToR). Throughout the project period, which extends until December 31, 2027, the GROW project will provide fuel for these motorcycles as part of the operational funds indicated as 40% in the table above. Each focal point officer will be responsible for the general maintenance of their motorcycle, including periodic servicing and repairs due to wear and tear.

To ensure sustainability, the operation and maintenance of the motorcycles will be integrated into the existing local government/ refugee settlement management structure. After the project's closure, the Community Services Department and Department for refugees will continue to allocate a specific percentage of its quarterly budget to the operation and maintenance of the motorcycles.
